THE STATE CAPITAL.

Passage of the Supply Bill—A Spicy Debate— The School Bill Passed the Senate—The New York Cab Bill—The Police Commis-ALBANY, April 27, 1869.

The event of the day in the Assembly was the lively, personal and decidedly attractive discussion on the Supply bill, which passed by a vote of 92 to 15, without amendments, just as it came from the Committee on Ways and Means. The chairman of that committee on ways and steams. The charriant of that committee, Mr. Selkreg, of Tompkins, made a fearful onslaught upon the items charged by the Committee on Elections, whose hotel bill in New York amounted to $6,000. He seemed to expend his whole force upon that item, while, as charged by one of his republican columns to the contract of the co leagues, he made no objection to items of immense bulk and dubious propriety. Mr. Selkreg, who is himself a member of the Election Committee, en-seavored to put the charges of extravagance upon himself a member of the Election Committee, enseavored to put the charges of extravagance upon the shoulders of the Sergeant-at-Arms, which included rents for parlors, carriage hire, theatre tokets and innumerable items of brandy and cigars, as read by Mr. Hitchman in detail; but other members of the committee, Mr. Hegeman, Smith, of Oswego, and Mosely, of Kings, defeaded the Sergeant by stating that the bill was just, and that he had done nothing in the matter of expenses except by command of the committee. N. B. Smith was bitingly severe upon Selkreg. He said that his attack upon the Sergeant was provoked by spite because the candidate of his choice was not elected to that position. Mr. Mosely, who was in the minority of the committee, made an emphatic statement that the State of New York had not to pay a dollar for his expenses, as he had defrayed them all hinself. Mr. Conant, of Suffolk, made the same declaration. He said that he never drank rum, at least at the expense of the State, and indignantly denied that he for one had enjoyed any of the extravagance charged upon the committee, whereupon Mr. Selkreg expressed his grantfication that so respectable a gentleman as Mr. Conant was able to acquit himself so well in a matter which he (Selkreg) denounced as a shaire and disgrace to the Legislature and a deep reproach to the republican majority thereof, of which he was a member. But the boidest defence of all was made by Hegeman, the chairman of the Election Committee, who claimed that the amount charged was a very moderate one, considering that they had tried four cases, examined 900 witnesses and travelled around all parts of New York and Staten Island in order to save expense. The whole discussion was a charming illustration of the old proverb that "when rogues fall out honest men come by their own," for be it known that Mosely is the only democrat on the committee.

The Senate put the School bill through to-day by a vote of twenty-six to five just as it came from the House. The following is the bill, which now awaits and will undoubtedly receive the Governor's signa-

UNION COLLEGE ALUMNI.

The Alumni of Union College resident in the city of New York and vicinity held their initiatory anniversary reunion at Delmonico's, Fifth avenue, last evening. It must not be supposed that because it was the first reunion of the Alumni of old Alma Mater at Schenectady held in New York that the Mater at Schenectady held in New York that the Alumni themselves were all young men. Not at all. Though there were many who date their college honors from the class of 1868—one short year ago—yet there were others whom it almost took one back to the days of antiquity to find. The class of 1808 was represented by the nobly appearing, venerable and reverends entor of all the Alumni, Rev. Thomas DeWitt. Most of the classes of all the intermediate years, from 1808 to 1868, were represented, but some showed blanks. Whether the members were absent, to appear at some future reunion at Delimonico's, or awaiting the final reunion of their college class-mates where no earthly mortality can reach them, did not appear on the roll call.

The following classes were represented:—Class of 1808, De Witt; 1815, Richard M. Biatchford, LL.D.; 1821, Smith Barker; 1822, Russel Benedict; 1823, Judge John A. Lott; 1824, Professor Stephen Alexander, of Princeton College, Alonzo Crittenden, whiliam Tracey; class of 1826, Nathaniel F. Waring; classes of 1826, 1827, 1829, 1830, 1831, 1832, 1833, 1834, 1834, 1834, 1834, 1835, 1 Alumni themselves were all young men. Not at all. Though there were many who date of such things cannot last forever, the intellectual portion of the proceedings came in order. These were prefaced by a brief thanksgiving from Rev. Dr. Moryan.

The chairman (Mr. Tracy) then addressed the assembled Alumni, stating the object of their first reunion as a body of those residing in the city of New York and vicinity. His remarks were very warmly received and heartily applauded.

The chairman then proposed the first toast of the evening—"Our Alma Mater." This was responded to by Mr. Charles A. Phelps, of Massachusetts, in a very neat and telling speech, which elicited the warmest plaudius of his brother Alumni.

The next toast was "The Pulpit," responded to by Bishop Potter.

The third toast, "The Bar," responded to by Mr. John K. Potter.

Fourth toast, "The Medical Profession," responded to by Dr. Hamilton.

Fifth toast, "The Press," responded to by Mr. John Bigelow.

Sixth toast, "The Sciences," respond to by Prof. Stephen Alexander.

Seventh toast, "Our Sister Colleges," responded to by Rev. Dr. Anderson.

During the proceedings telegrams were read from Governor Hoffman, Mr. Whilam H. Seward and others, accounting for absence.

Governor Hofman, Mr. William H. Seward and others, accounting for absence.

The vocal powers of the Alumni were also called into requisition by the members present—one and all standing and singing "Song to Old Union." An excellent band was also present and contributed accordingly to the delights of an evening which it may be truly said were never surpassed by any Alumni reunion ever held within the walls of the Delmonico House.

CLIONIAN ANNIVERSARY AT ACADEMY OF MUSIC.

The eighteenth anniversary of the Clionian Society at the Academy of Music last evening. Every seat in the spacious building was occupied by the friends of the society, the fair sex largely predomi-nating in the audience. Upon the platform were a number of guests of the society, including Professors Anthon, Dockerty, Werner and Morates, of the faculty; James Kelly Rev. Dr. Montgomery and other prominent citizens. The exercises consisted of a long programme of musical and declamatory selections, the declamations consisting of the president's address, cleven orations and a poem. Mr. James Carey Sheffield, president of the society, presided with ability and made the opening address, which was eulogistic of secret literary societies. He congratulated the members of the Chonian Society on their prosperity and progress. Mr. Graham McAdam made a good address on "Conservative Theology," which was well received, Mr. Edward I. Mathews, Jr., talked earnestly on the subject of "Peculiar." The principal recitation of the evening was that of the poem "The New Crusade," which was effectively rendered by the author, Mr. Charles Follen Lee. The poem was got up in reference to the recent agilation of the question of the support of the College of the City New York. The allusions to "Mr. H. B. C.," the "Bowery Teutona," citizens of "Mackerelville," the "bloody Sixth ward" and "Fifth avenoo," and "the San, who shines not for everyone," were received with loud cheers. At the conclusion, when the speaker announced that success would come with the words:—

And blue gred victory then we'll see, Mr Alland Mater be foreyer free. Rev. Dr. Montgomery and other prominent citizens.

And blue gred victory then we'll see,
And alma Mater be forever free.

The speaker was showered with bouquets and loudly encored. The oration, "Beacon Lights," by Mr. Feter J. Keily, was practical and thoughtful in character and well delivered. Mr. J. Howard Montgomer's spoke on "invisible Forces" with hearty plaudits, and an oration on "The Reading of the Period," by Mr. Charles C. McBride, was a comprehensive paper, and was well delivered. The orations, as a whole, were creditable to the society, most of them being of a practical nature. The conclusion, an honorary oration by Frederick Deseyster, A. M., was a proper termination to a successful and admirable entertainment. The music, turnished by an orchestra directed by Mr. J. M. Landy, was vey fine. At a late hour the finale of the anniversary was reached with the benediction and college songs.

The Revolution—The Cuban Fing Recog-nized—Merchants' Memorial—Important Despatches to Washington.

MEXICO, April 12, 1862. MEXICO, April 12, 1863.
The revolution is quiet for the moment, the bulls and the bears seeming to prefer to await the news from Sinaloa, Sonora, Durango and San Luis Potosi. We have nothing new and authentic from Adolfe Palacio, in Sinalaa, except a rumor that he had; re-turned to Culiacan and occupied that city, and that his revolution in favor of Placido Vega for Governor had been seconded in Tannaula by Joaquin Con-treras. It is also current that three stragglers from Palacio's command had been captured on the road between Culiacan and Mazatian. These rumors need confirmation. We hear nothing as to Placedo Vegas' movements, and noth-ing positive in regard to Martinez, although itsis said he is expected at any moment from San Fran-cisco, where he has been living since his escape from San Blas when the revolution failed a year since. The press of this capital are singularly quiet from San Blas when the revolution failed a year since. The press of this capital are singularly quiet as to the outbreak in Durango and the condition of things in Sonora. The rumors in regard to the latter State are known to the government.

The question of "free Cuba" finally culminated on the 5th of this month in a petition to Congress, just commencing its fourth session, soliciting that body to authorize the President to recognize the Cuban revolutionists as belingerents at the moment he may think proper. The petition was eloquently sustained by Mr. Josquin Baranda, the young talented and exceedingly po_unar member from Yucatan, and was acceeded to by a vote of 100 to 12.

President Jaurez had previously issued a decree permitting the "free Cuban" flag to float from any vessel which might propose to carry the same in any of the harbors or waters of Mexico, and it has become already visible before San Juan de Uloa and in the streets of Vera Cruz. Allatorre, Corona, Escabedo and Garcia are still here, and it is generally supposed that the government are preparing some active concerted measures to effect security of life and property, to be put in force, now that the law suspending personal guaranties has passed.

The merchants of Vera Cruz have commissioned Mr. Julius Chink, a merchant of this city, to petition the President to advise and provide some rielef to the paralyzed condition of commerce.

Mr. Godoy, Mexican Consul, writes to the Siglo ATLY, from San Francisco, that he mis akes when he says that, although the Mexican people compilment the United States by hoisting flags on the 22d of February and 4th of July, the compilment is nevar returned, stating that in San Francisco the Mexican national feast days are similarly complimented.

March 27 $61,000, and for the week ending April 3 $100,000.

The United States Vice Consul, C. W. Brink, goes to the United States for his family, and is also the bearer of despatches to the government from the Unitel States Minister. The rumors which have prevalled as to a rupture between General Rosecrans and Mr. Lerdo have given unusual importance to this visit of the Vice Consul. There is reason to believe that despatches passing just now between the Mexican government and that of the United States must be possessed of more or less importance, and yet it is declared in official circles that the despatches in question, while important, are of a highly peaceful and beneficent character.

THE CUBAN FAIR.

Innuguration of the Fair at Apollo Hall Last Evening by the "Junta Patriotica."

The grand fair for the benefit of the sick and vounded of the patriot army of Cuba was opened ast evening at Apollo Hall under the auspices of the Cuban ladies of the "Junta Patriotica." Mayor Hall was to have inaugurated the fair, but owing to his having been suddenly called out of town yes-terday afternoon, Mr. Richard O'Gorman did the honors in his absence. Long before the hour ap-pointed for the formal opening, the hall, which was very tastefully decorated with Cuban flags and ban-ners of various descriptions, was crowded by a very brilliant gathering of ladies and gentlemen, the majority of whom were, of course, Cubans. Mr. O'Gorman, after prayer by the Rev. Dr. Gallaudet, was introduced by Mr. Sheyman, a well known adwas introduced by Mr. Sherman, a well known advocate of Cuban rights, ir. O'Gorman, during his address, which was a very short one, and made in his peculiarly happy vein, referred one, and made in his peculiarly happy vein, referred to the struggle which the Cubans were making against the tyrannical Spaniards. The time had gone by, he said, when any European Power could meddle with impunity with the affairs of any community on this Continent. He had no doubt that triumph would finally crown the efforts of the patricts of the "ever faithful isle." Even if they were ansuccessful in their present unequal fight, their final deliverance from the falling yoke which had for so long a time oppressed them was as certain as fate. Cubans had before now essayed to gain their freedom and failed; but they had arisen at last in their might, and could not be put down by the assassination of helpless women in the streets of Havana. Mr. O'Gorman then referred to the ladies who had taken the fair in hand, and advised the "friends of the good cause" to patronize them in a manner that would accrue to the benefit of the soldiers in the field.

would accrue to the beneat of the soldiers in the field.

There are seventeen tables in the hall, every one of which is loaded down with all sorts of articles, which the ladies expect to dispose of long before the close of the fair in order to give place to other articles, which certain patriots are desirous of presenting to the Junta. There are some very valuable objets desertion on some of the tables, which are to be raffied for, exclusive of the inevitable pincushions, which are to be seen on all the tables in rich and varied profusion. It is needless to state that the ladies were untiring in their efforts last evening to please all the gentlemen by making then come "down with the dust" in a handsome manner. The fair will certainly be a success, for it is under good management. The ludies who have the affair in charge have done their part, and it now remains for the iriends of Cuba to do theirs.

THE WEST HAVEN HOMICIDE CASE.—On Saturday Ransom Tomilinson, who delivered himself up to the authorities after kining John Granfield, on Thursday last, at the River House, in West Haven, and who was committed to jail to await an examination, was brought before the Superior Court upon a writ of habeas corpus, and no proceeding having been instituted against him by the West Haven authorities, he was discharged from custody, but ball in the sum of $1,000 was offered by his counsel, Mr. T. E. Doolittle, to be given for his appearance whenever proceedings are instituted against him. His counsel were Messrs. Doolittle, Blydenburg and Stoddard. It is probable that proceedings will be instituted in the case this week, and that there will be an examination had at West Haven.—Hartford Times, April 26.
